Thomas Clark, Charged With Killing Wife and Son, Captured Saturday.

IS ARRESTED IN STORE

Proprietor and Another Seize Hunger-Stricken and Burned Fugitive.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Nov. 18.—(By A. P.)—Suffering from hunger and fatigue, his left leg and hip severely burned and his hands singed, Thomas Clark, accused of killing Lillie V. Clark, his wife, and Homer Clark, their eight-year-old son, was taken into custody this afternoon at McNaughton, Ind. The arrest ended a three-day man hunt, which extended over half a dozen counties in Northern Indiana.

Hunted Three Days
By seeking shelter in barns at night, nibbling the corn in the fields and drinking the water in pools and streams, Clark was able to evade capture for three days, while posers of farmers and citizens scoured the countryside. He was greatly hindered, he said, in traveling across country because of the rains of the last few days.

The bodies of Mrs. Clark and her son were found in a chicken house on the Clark farm near here Wednesday night. The structure had been set on fire, the woman's skull and that of the son had been crushed, and their clothes saturated with oil, neighbors said. Clark disappeared the night of the tragedy.

Arrested at Store

He was arrested by Cecil Jackson, at whose store he appeared for food and by Jesse Beavens, a resident of the county, both of whom are members of the Wells County Detective association.

The grand jury will meet Wednesday, Nov. 22, to investigate the deaths. Clark is said to have mentioned two men as having been responsible for the breaking up of his home, and to have expressed regret that "he did not get them, too." He was placed in jail at Ellettsburg.

CROWN PRINCE CHOSEN AS NEW TURKISH CALIPH

Abdul Medjid Effendi, Cousin of Sultan Mohammed VI, Succeeds Him.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 18.—(By A. P.)—Crown Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, cousin of Sultan Mohammed VI, has been elected caliph, according to an announcement from Ankara.

SELECTION EXPECTED

Since the temporal power of the sultanate was abolished by the national assembly and it was announced that today would choose a caliph to succeed the sultan from among the members of the Osmanli dynasty, Abdul Medjid Effendi has been spoken of as most likely to be selected. It was even reported before the Nationalists definitely decided to abolish the sultanate that Abdul Medjid had been approached by the Ankara government with a view to the help apparent according to the throne. Abdul Medjid replied he was prepared to accept if it seemed in the country's interest that the throne should be restored. At a meeting of the members of the Turkish imperial family, a few hours after the sultan was deposed, attended by Abdul Medjid, particular attention was given to the decision of the national assembly that the choice of the caliph was to be "that member of the imperial family who is the best instructed, best educated, most honest and wisest." The imperial conference decided if the throne was to be shorn of temporal power none of them would accept it. In the summer of 1921, when Constantinople advised told of a decision by the Nationalist government that Sultan Mohammed VI abdicated the sultan was represented as having replied he was ready to abdicate in favor of any member of the imperial family with the exception of Prince Abdul Medjid, who at that time was described as a member of the Nationalist party.

Frank Stefanich, 35 years old, 715 Meade st., received a compound fracture of the skull and several severe cuts and bruises when he was struck by an east-bound New York Central train shortly after 11 o'clock last night. An expressman in the New York Central station noticed the man's form lying on the east-bound track about 12:15 o'clock, and after finding the man to be delirious, although not unconscious, notified the police. Stefanich suffered a deep gash on the right side of his head which extended from the back of the head into the right eye. His right foot was almost severed at the ankle while other parts of his body were cut and bruised. After an examination by Dr. Meyers, it was learned that Stefanich was also suffering from a compound fracture of the skull.

FIRST DAY IN U. S. BUSY ONE FOR CLEMENCEAU

French 'Tiger' Reacts to Greeting With Enthusiasm of School Boy.

THRONES WELCOME HIM

Noted Guest Insists on Seeing All the Sights in Nation's Metropolis.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(By A. P.)—Georges Clemenceau, war-time premier of France, came to America today on a mission of peace. The derry old "Tiger" earnestly voiced the purpose of his tour in brief response at the City Hall to an address of welcome by Acting Mayor Hubert. "In the world at this time," he declared, "is a crisis which has not been settled. How it will end, nobody knows. If you take the wrong side—well, the war counts for nothing and we may have to go to war again. It is turned out right, and the right thing is done at the right time, then it will be the greatest step for the civilization of mankind."

Clemenceau's idea of the "right thing" is the message he will give to America in a series of addresses here and in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and Philadelphia. Although he came as a private citizen, the famous French statesman was accorded the honors of a diplomat. Red tape was cut by Washington to facilitate his landing. A personal representative of President Harding—Asst. Secy. of State, Bliss—went down the bay to welcome him and invited him to the White House. Jules J. Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, was on hand to put the stamp of his government's approval on the visit.

Wilson Sends Greetings

Clemenceau had scarcely set foot on shore when a telegram from another famous World War figure was handed him. The message, from Woodrow Wilson read: "Allow me to bid you welcome to America where you will find none but friends."

The "Tiger," who had worked at Versailles with Wilson for the League of Nations, hastened to scribble this reply: "Deeply touched by your kind message, please accept my kindest regards and wishes. Am looking forward with great pleasure to seeing you in Washington."

These were the day's serious spots. For the rest, it was a day of madcap adventures. For the noted statesman and he went to it with a vim that belied his 58 years.

Enjoys Excitement

The keen eyes beneath the shaggy brows were sparkling and snapping with excitement when the committee that went down the bay to greet him first caught sight of him, high on the promenade deck of the United States senate. Whether his ambition will be realized, however, apparently will not be determined until after congress convenes at noon next Monday.

Deny Legal Right

In view of this senate leaders agreed with Gov. Hardwick that Mrs. Felton has no legal right to a senate place, but they said today they were not disposed to interpose objection unless Mr. George should make a demand for his seat Monday. Mr. George has announced he will do all he can legally to aid Mrs. Felton in fulfilling her desire to sit in the senate, if only for a day.

Writ Summoning Witnesses in Hall-Mills Affair Mentions No Female Name.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 18.—A new sensation was sprung in the Hall-Mills murder case this afternoon when it was learned that a writ of habeas corpus issued to compel the attendance of Raymond Schneider, a witness before the grand jury meeting at Somerset, specifically stated that he was "wanted to give testimony against John Doe, Richard Roe and Thomas Roe."

The fact that the writ did not mention a woman's name immediately caused comment. Officials said that when an unidentified woman is mentioned in a legal document reference is usually made with a woman's name, such as "Mary Roe." After having declared that he would not subpoena the Rev. Paul F. B. Hamborsky before the Somerset grand jury, Dept. Atty. Gen. Wilbur A. Mott modified his decision today by saying he could not answer the question as to whether Hamborsky would be summoned. Rev. Hamborsky, who formerly was pastor of the Hungarian Reformed church of New Brunswick, had made a sworn statement to the effect that Hall told him he feared bodily harm from a man known as "Henry" and that he was planning to go to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Gurley snapped in New York just before they sailed on the Mauretania Nov. 6. They arrived at Southampton last Monday.

George Gets Salary

Should Mrs. Felton be seated, it was stated that she would serve without pay under the statute which provides for the beginning of the salary of a senator elected to fill an unexpired term on the day of his election. Mrs. Felton's friends declared that she would not accept the salary of a senator elected to fill an unexpired term on the day of his election. Mrs. Felton's friends declared that she would not accept the salary of a senator elected to fill an unexpired term on the day of his election.

Off For Europe

News-Times Editor Goes to Europe to Analyze Conditions

Boyd Gurley Will Write Observations of Conditions for Local Readers.

Every broad-minded liberty-loving American who has at heart the future of America is interested in the future of Europe as well. Across the Atlantic are those countries that have not recovered from the war, nations that are disturbed by political, industrial and social unrest, countries that still feel the effect of the four-year struggle which have failed because of war's after effect to approach the standard of pre-war days.

Secretary Praises Him

"We have not had in our military service of our government service in any capacity a man of higher qualities or one who has inspired in others a greater degree of confidence," said the secretary. "The business he will enter is in its infancy and it will offer full scope for his abilities. That he will prove himself a great leader in industry and commercial affairs seems as certain to me as his great leadership in military activities. I have an acute sense of personal loss in his going. His ability and loyalty have been of vital importance to me in administering affairs of the war department."

After his tour of England, Scotland and Ireland, Mr. Gurley will fly to France, where he will study the existing French conditions. His plans will take him into Germany, where within the past week a government has fallen with the resignation of the Wirth cabinet. Mr. Gurley will make a study of the political unrest there and of the return of power to the conservatives.

Harbord, deputy chief of staff, and one of the outstanding American military leaders in the world was to accept the presidency of the Radio Corporation of America, was announced today by Secy. Weeks. He will be succeeded in Washington by Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, now commanding the eighth corps area.

War Department

Gen. Harbord's retirement becomes effective Dec. 29 and he will take up his new duties Jan. 1. He had been selected to succeed Gen. Pershing as chief of staff on the latter's retirement and Secy Weeks said in his formal announcement that the loss to the active forces of the army through Gen. Harbord's separation from the service "cannot be adequately expressed."

Gen. Harbord's determination to go back to civil life brings to a close a striking military career that began in the ranks of Company A, Fourth Infantry, in 1883. Since then he has passed through every grade the army knows from private to major general and was recommended for promotion to lieutenant general.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 18.—(By A. P.)—All South and Central American republics were being informed today that Mexico resented any censorship of its legislation by the United States or other powers and that President Obregon's statement to that effect had secured for him a virtual note of confidence in the chamber of deputies.

Legislators Attack U. S.

This action grew out of a heated debate in the chamber last night following disclosure of a series of communications which are said to have recently passed between Foreign Secy. Paul and George T. Summerlin, American charge d'affaires. In these communications, Mr. Summerlin, speaking for the American state department, is alleged to have offered suggestions concerning a prospective petroleum law which is to be considered by congress. The Mexican government is represented as holding the opinion that these suggestions were intrusive.

PAGE'S TOUTED CHAMPIONS BOW TO ROCKNE MEN

"Fighting Irish" Administer Sensational Defeat in Sea of Mud.

CASTNER IS BADLY HURT

Thousands Barred From Witnessing Game by Inadequacy of Stands.

BY CHARLES M. EGAN INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 18.—A field heavy with mud, which slowed up the play in this afternoon's battle for the state football championship at Irwin field, failed to prevent the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame from completely crushing and outclassing the highly touted Butler college eleven and running up the sizable score of 32 to 3.

Tonight all Indianapolis is paying tribute to Coach Rockne's team as one of the greatest in the land, for few of the 12,000 persons, who somehow or other managed to squeeze their way into the small park, expected Pat Page's warriors—hitherto undefeated this season—to bow so ingloriously in defeat.

The victory, while a glorious one for the South Bend team, also came close to being the costliest of the season, for Paul Castner, whose playing this afternoon was as brilliant an exhibition as any seen on a western gridiron, was carried from the field near the close of the third quarter, when it was announced that the stellar Irish fullback had suffered a broken bone in his hip and would be out of the game for the rest of the year. The injured star was rushed to St. Vincent's hospital, where tonight it was said that the bone had only been dislocated and had been snapped back into place. It is not believed that the injury is serious, and Castner was said to be resting easily and may be able to play against the Nebraska team at Lincoln on Thanksgiving Day.

Butler Scores First

A place kick by Hal Greiss placing the Indianapolis team three points in the lead and causing the Butler stand to go into spasms of joy. This all changed shortly when Rockne's lightning attack began to function and after the first touchdown all fight went out of Page's men and it became only a question of what the final score would be. It was in this respect that the Butler team failed to "measure up."

Before he received the injury, which caused him to be carried off the field, Castner had been the outstanding factor in the Irish offense. Although every backfield man used by Rockne played brilliantly all of them tearing off substantial gains, Castner, however, stood out because of his brilliant all-around play, being equally brilliant at breaking the line, running the ends, kicking, passing and on the defensive.

Maher Stars

Next to Castner Willie "Red" Maher, perhaps, played the best game for the Irish. Maher, who had been out of the game since early in the season because of an injury to his hand received in the St. Louis game, did not enter the fray until the third quarter was well under way when he was sent in to relieve Elmer Layden, who had been busy dashing through the Butler line all afternoon. The first time called upon "Red" brightened through for 15 yards and this was followed after by a long run by "Dutch" Bergman III for a touchdown, the third Notre Dame stand still in ecstasies following Bergman's dash. Greiss kicked off and Maher received on his 16 yard line. "Red" then cut loose with a brilliant dash of 30 yards through the entire Butler team for a touchdown, the most spectacular feat of the day. Throughout the rest of the game, Willie continued his great work. The Butler tacklers seemed to have more trouble downing him than any other man while his elusiveness gained yard after yard whenever called upon.
